Runoff set in Pahokee for mayor, Mock wins

PAHOKEE — Having elected candidate Jon Mock as councilman, voters will return to the polls Tuesday to choose between Wyomia Cummings and Noma Norman for the post of mayor.

In voting Tuesday none of the four mayoral candidates garnered a majority of the 853 votes cast. Final tally showed 222 votes for Miss Cummings and 223 for Norman with Robert Welty receiving 210 and Mead Maxwell, 159.

In the vote for the council seat Mock collected 482 votes compared with 165 for William Duke and 152 for Gary "Bucky" Sanders.

The runoff election will be held May 13, according to City Clerk Betty McCoy with the polling place again open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

With some 1600 persons registered to vote, the turnout represented more than 50 percent of the electorate. Unofficial figures show, however, that 56 of the votes for mayor and 81 in the vote for councilman were not included in the tally.

Asked about the discrepancy, Mrs. McCoy said Wednesday morning that the ballots had not yet been inspected, but she said she did note that some of the ballot cards were fed into the tabulating machine there were some "wrong punches" and others with "all the holes punched."

"There are always some misvotes," she said, "but I think it generally is a lack of knowledge about how to operate the machine."

Although residents were prevented from gathering around the fire station polling place Tuesday, a traditional custom disallowed this year when Miss

Cummings indicated she would protest it as a violation of the state election laws, the council chamber was crowded Tuesday night with residents of all ages awaiting returns.

The immediate results of Tuesday's voting are that Welty, a four-year councilman who has been serving as president, and Norman are off the council. Incumbent George Rashley retains his seat which was uncontested and Hugo Raineri, also uncontested in the election, joins the council. Mock, a 23-year-old first-time council candidate to appear on the ballot, is also added to the council.

Superwalk is Saturday

BELLE GLADE — The all-new Eighth Annual March of Dimes Glades Superwalk will get underway at 8 a.m. Saturday when Glades marchers join a national Blister Brigade to walk a mile for the life of a child.

Palm Beach County poster child, 2-year old Erin Albertson spent last Thursday and Friday in Glades area schools, making 15 presentations to arouse the students' interest in the walk and give them an idea about why they would be doing it. She'll also be on hand for Saturday's walk.

Erin, a bright, vivacious child, is as full of energy as any two-year old. It's hard for one to connect her with birth defects until closer attention reveals she has only one arm, that the other is a prosthetic.

Palm Beach County March of Dimes Director, Judy Walker said this is the kind of birth defect the March of Dimes, and the Superwalk, is all about. Money raised in the Glades Walkathon will go toward research to prevent these birth defects as well as toward the county clinic to treat them.

Erin's arms, for instance, and she'll have to have several as she outgrows them one by one, have been completely paid for by the March of Dimes. She's being fitted for a new one in the near future and the March of Dimes is paying for that one too. The prosthetics get more expensive the older she gets.

Glades County Coordinator Ray Rauch noted that one of the advantages of giving to the March of Dimes, in the form of sponsoring walkers to the tune of so much per mile, is that the vast majority of the donations received by the charity go directly to the need, rather than being eaten up in administrative costs.

The county agency, for instance, only used 9 percent of the total budget last year for administration and fund raising.

Rauch said the 10.6 mile walk this year will be over a totally new course and is being sponsored, for the first time, by the Belle Glade Lions Club.

"We've got everything locked up tight," Rauch said. "We have the food and everything."

He said registration will begin at 8 a.m. in the field behind the Glades Central annex, and walkers can begin their march for birth defects as soon as they've signed up.

The route will begin across the Glades Central campus to North Canal Street, lead west to SR715, north to Avenue L, east to Linda Road, south to the dike on the north bank of Hillsboro Canal, west again to SR715, north to Avenue

L, east to the field where the walkers will have registered.

Rauch said there will be three checkpoints besides the start and finish lines. There will be three pop-out vans patrolling the route and he said three police cars are being assigned to the walk route.

Hatton is Man of Year

PAHOKEE — More than 100 people turned out Saturday night for the 29th annual Chamber of Commerce dinner to honor outstanding citizens of the community and hear a talk by Florida Rep. T.F. "Tom" Lewis.

The distinguished honor of being named "Citizen of the Year" was awarded J. Ray Hatton, a Pahokee resident since 1936, farmer, contractor and community leader. A produce and sugar cane grower for many years and now associated with Pee-Holby Ltd.

The distinguished honor of being named "Citizen of the Year" was awarded J. Ray Hatton, a Pahokee resident since 1936, farmer, contractor and community leader. A produce and sugar cane grower for many years and now associated with Pee-Holby Ltd.

Hatton was presented the award by Chamber President Bruce Bowe who described Hatton as "a builder and mover."

Two awards for Distinguished Community Service were also presented. Nola Nagler, Pahokee Band president for the past 15 years, was honored for spearheading the $26,000 fund-raising effort that financed the band trip to New Orleans, and Robert Shaford, executive director of the Pahokee Ambulance Service, for his work in establishing and expanding ambulance service for the city. The plaques were respectively presented by Lucy Baines and Commissioner Robert Walby.

A second honor was bestowed on the Arthur Nagler family when daughter Farly received the Chamber of Commerce STAR student award, presented by Simon Train.

The Past Presidents Plaque was presented to Simon Train by Doris Wedderburn.

Winners of the Holiday Decoration Awards were presented plaques by Bryna Cross. Mr. and Mrs. William Hatton won in the residential category and the Rose Petal florist shop, in the commercial division.

Speakers at the dinner, held in the Elks Club and catered by the Ladies of Pahokee Elks, was Rep. Lewis who made a preliminary announcement that the plans for Pahokee's "park design" have been submitted for federal approval by the Department of Natural Resources.

Sen. Lewis' office later confirmed that he was referring to plans for renovating the State Park lakefront, seriously eroded by the raising of the lake level. He described a bill which he will introduce during the forthcoming legislative session that would

BACKTALK

Election Day in Pahokee has always gone hand-in-hand with freedom of assembly, with residents gathering on the lawn in front of the fire station polling place to gossip, politic, and renew old acquaintance. This year, the state law was enforced that prohibits such activities within 1,000 yards of a polling place. Backtalk asked some Pahokee residents this week how they felt about the change.

Marguerite Maxwell — I'm protesting right behind the line where we can carry on what we've been carrying on for years. I've been coming out for Election Day since I was a child. I can remember when we used to bury the losers with flowers and everything right after the election. We're all friends and neighbors here and tomorrow the election will all be over and forgotten.

Novella Hickerson — I didn't give it any thought but I think you should be able to gather 'round if you want to.

Bob Simonson — I didn't see that it did any harm. It was kind of like Old Home Week. I know the law is the law and maybe it has a purpose that I don't understand.

Betty Hattom — It is a tradition that's been going on for years and I think it should be reinstated.

Cooperation was the key

Some of the greatest news to come down the pike lately came this week when Palm Beach Junior College President Ed Eissey signed a contract with Wallace Lutz to build the long-planned and anticipated auditorium on the Glades campus.

The Education and Cultural Center, to give it its proper name, has been needed so badly and so long that Glades campus Provost Cecil Conley said he could have had it booked for the next two years if it were now standing.

That's believable because the Belle Glade-South Bay area simply has no facility at all that could remotely be considered a public auditorium, particularly not anything that could seat 500 people and provide them with anything like comfort and proper acoustics.

Pahokee now has the Prince Theater and that's a tribute to the fine people who undertook the renovation of that landmark but it has only recently opened its doors and wouldn't fill the void as does the proposed auditorium.

The college auditorium is especially welcome since it comes as the direct result of cooperation between the college itself, government on three different levels and private enterprise.

Aside from the college's obvious interest, private enterprise was involved deeply and early when the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida donated $78,000 to the building fund of the college, way back when George Wedgworth was instrumental in getting the land for the campus.

The $78,000 was originally intended to buy the property but it was donated by the state. Then the money was to be used to pay for campus buildings but the original building was paid for out of college funds. That left the donation to gather interest and form the core of local funds to be matched on a two to one basis by the state.

The county government became involved early with a $200,000 donation which brought the local contributions up to a total of $300,000; the local share for what was expected to be a $900,000 building.

The county commission was involved again two weeks ago when Dr. Eissey requested and received, another $200,000 donation after the bids were finally received and the low bid came in at almost $1.6 million.

That left another $32,000 in non-educational local funding that was needed and that's where the City of Belle Glade came in. The city commission unanimously agreed last week to make up the entire difference.

All too often, editorials are a newspaper's way of throwing bricks at public officials. That's why it's so pleasurable to throw bouquets at times and bouquets are called for this time.

Bouquets and kudos go to Dr. Eissey and Trustee Dolly Hand for not giving up on a dream. The two provided a one-two punch for the college that couldn't be ignored and they went on when a lot of other people would have packed it in and thrown up their hands in despair.

A dozen of the florist's finest go to the county commission, particularly Bill Bailey, for kicking in the first $200,000 and backing that up with an equal donation when the crunch came on short notice.

A long stemmed rose to each of the city commissioners, who saw the need and contributed the final $32,000, also on short notice and at a time when money is tight and federal funding for future projects is uncertain at best.

Finally, kudos to the board of directors of the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, and particularly George Wedgworth, without whom it's probable that neither the auditorium nor the Glades campus would have become a reality.

Just thought you, the public, would want to know.

Some dime!

What difference can a dime make?

Well, listen to what difference President Carter's proposed dime per gallon tax on gasoline can make to Florida farmers.

According to recently released USDA figures, 48,459,000 gallons of gasoline will be used by Florida farmers this year, not counting another 84,323,000 gallons of diesel fuel.

If the farmers are taxed along with the rest of us on the Carter tax, and it looks now as though they would be, that means Florida farmers' cost of producing food and fiber will be jacked up another $4.8 million.

That's a whole of a difference.

Another character is emerging. I think it is Walter Mitty.

Explaining his planned dry trials to be executed at the Republican National Convention, Liddy told John Mitchell that he would cause the protest leaders to temporarily disappear. He had this scheme characteristically labeled "Nacht und Nebel" (Night and Fog). He referred to his henchmen as the Special Action Group.

Gordon Liddy's "Will" is now known

By H.G. Duncan

So, G. Gordon Liddy has decided he "owes a debt to history," and has published his version of the events leading up to Watergate and beyond.

How sweet I've waited

One would think a man who tries to exude a character of stoicism and taciturnity and unbendable loyalty to those he supported, would continue his silence.

This is the guy who, when asked by the bloated bigot, Sam Erwin, if he would "solemnly swear to tell the truth," etc., replied, "No."

One doesn't have to squander the $13.95 to buy Liddy's book, WILL, unless one has an eye for comedy. Excerpts from this monumental work are in a recently published issue of TIME Magazine.

As I read and chuckled at the antics of one of King Richard's court jesters, there emerged from the recesses of my subconscious mind a familiar character. He finally stepped out of the fog, wearing his trench coat and cuts little hat: Inspector Clouseau of PINK PANTHER fame.

"It seems that most everything Liddy tried to do turned to mush. Most of his schemes were disproved when he had the bad judgement to outline them for higher authority. For example: He planned to have some unwashed hippies burst into McGovern's room during the Democratic National Convention while McGovern was holding a press conference. They were to be wearing McGovern buttons, carrying their inseparable signs, and cheering him on. They then, according to script, were supposed to urinate on the rug. Liddy outlined this plan to John Mitchell, the Attorney General, who immediately disapproved it since he would be occupying that same room in the follow-on Republican Convention.

Liddy tried to recruit a lady of the evening for his dirty tricks squad to be used against the president of His Majesty. The demagogue that he would "never betray" her, he allowed her to hold a cigarette lighter under his extended palm until "the flesh turned black" and emitted the "scent of burning meat." Yes. Of course. I suppose. This potential recruit, however, thought that Liddy was trying to proposition her, his remarks being "somewhat cryptic," I suppose. She declined his offer.

Liddy kindly offered to Howard Hunt to "kill" Jack Anderson, the columnist. Few perceptive people would argue that the silencing of Anderson's typewriter would not be a misfortune, but I doubt that anyone wants him dead.

But the prospects were tantalizing enough to be discussed by Hunt, Liddy and some former CIA doctor as to the best means to do it. It was decided to recruit Cubans for the "hit." Liddy kindly offered to do the job himself should the Cubans balk.

The Cubans obviously refused, and Liddy never carried out his offer. Wonder what happened.

By 1987, Lewis said he forecasted all gas sold in Florida as containing ten percent gasohol.

Rep. Lewis, who is currently seeking the District 27 state senator's seat being vacated by the retiring Sen. Phil Lewis, warned the audience that "more government" could lead to socialist control.

The dinner meeting opened with welcome remarks by President Bowe and an invocation offered by Herman Hendrix.

The annual report was given by Dr. Phil Provenza, treasurer, who recapitulated the Chamber's projects noting that retiring Mayor Duncan Padgett was the first "Citizen of the Year" to be named by the Pahokee Chamber.

The Chamber continues to have a problem keeping directors on the board, Provenza said. He cited the present membership as 110 businesses and reported that the organization will "shoot for 150 members this year."

In naming Hatten as Citizen of the Year, Chamber President Bowe prefaced the presentation with a biographical sketch of Hatten.

A native of Kentucky, Hatten came to the area in 1935, Bowe said, and in 1962, graduated from the University of Florida. He is Elk, a Lion and a Methodist, and a member of the Glades Republican Club.

Thinking Mitchell might have trouble understanding the message, Liddy made his point by referring to them as "An Elmsatz-gruppe, General." The "General," he was spoken with the hard German "g" and referred to Mitchell.

On second thought, $13.95 might be well spent. A lot of laughs could be had from that investment.

Maybe a television series could be written around the exploits of G. Gordon Liddy. A former FBI man who could not engineer a simple break-in which would go undetected by an inexperienced, nearly illiterate nightwatchman, has got to be a source of a lot of comedy.

With sufficient financial incentive, Peter Sellers may, with all his professional versatility, consent to play the leading role of the hard-eyed, quiet, cruel and cunning planner of defeat of any attempt to dethrone His Majesty, King Richard.

In keeping with his projected character trait of regiments, Liddy entitled his book, WILL. Perhaps, not knowing whether he meant a noun or a verb, we could call the TV series, COULDNT.

If a movie is decided upon, a proper title might be THE GREEN PUSSY-CAT.

would've been on page one of every newspaper in the country before it could've been launched. About the only secret Congress could keep would be its own pay raise.

But what hurts worst of all are the smug characters who exhibit nothing more than ecstasy while making snide remarks about "mighty America", and creeps like the one during last Tuesday's news conference who asked President Carter if now isn't the time to confess our and the Shah's sins against the people of Iran and make some conciliatory gesture. That was sickening.

There have been so many solutions offered, mostly simplistic, to the hostage situation, one would think it must be the easiest problem in the world to handle but it isn't.

It's complex and frustrating and the only simple way out would be precisely what the Iranian government itself has done when faced with an identical situation in London.

They intend to do nothing, even if it means the death of the London hostages.

And as long as someone's willing to try, I'm not going to criticize too much.

SOMETHING WAS MISSING Tuesday at the Pahokee city election - the traditional crowd that gathers around the fire station polling place. In observance of state election laws, there was no politicking within 100 yards of the polls for the first time in anyone's recollection.

South Bay sewer leaks can be costly

SOUTH BAY—City residents who fail to repair sewer leaks on their property could face fines up to $200 a day according to an ordinance adopted on the first reading Tuesday night by the city commission.

"No person," the ordinance reads, "shall discharge or cause to be discharged into any said sewer any stormwater, surface water, groundwater, roof runoff, subsurface drainage, cooling water, air conditioning and refrigerating waste waters or unpolluted industrial process waters."

The ordinance provides for a penalty of $200, with each and every day following the original citation to be considered a separate violation.

City Public Works Director Lomas Harrell said he proposed the ordinance in light of a recent sewer system test that revealed 116 open services on private property.

Harrell said these leaks could cause major problems by allowing infiltration of the city system during heavy rains and that, as of now, the city doesn't have the authority to go on private property and demand that the private services be maintained.

He said the damaged lines could be caused by lawn mowers where the private lines are above the ground or when cars and trucks drive over the lines when they're near the surface.

The ordinance would make it the responsibility of the homeowner to maintain his or her own line.

In other business, the commission:

- Decided to sue former police officer John Gordovsk for $2,450 the city said to send him to the police academy.
- Chief Ellis Burroughs said he had repeatedly contacted Gordovsk and Gordovsk had finally told him that in spite of the statute and an agreement he signed when coming on the force, he felt the matter should be decided on in court.

Voted, 4-1 with Mayor Tanner voting "NO" to issue a license to allow the opening of the Candy Superette, a grocery market, in the building which was known in the past as the Wilson Superette.

The building, located on Palm Beach Road, is in an area zoned for multi-family dwellings. City Attorney Jim Gann noted Wilson's Superette was grandfathered into a non-conforming use in the area.

He explained that, according to the statute, if the building is vacant for more than 90 days, it then loses its grandfather status and the owner would have to seek a variance to open a business, since it requires commercial zoning.

Commissioner Ray Sullivan moved the city issue the license after discussion revealed the city zoning board can't address the problem because its chairman, Sunny Rogers, resigned in February to run for the seat he now fills on the commission.

"It doesn't matter," Sullivan said when Mayor Tanner reminded him the commission would be violating its own ordinance in granting the license without giving the zoning board a chance to make a recommendation.

"We're going to do what we want anyway and we can override the zoning board if it doesn't grant the variance. These people are ready to open their business," Sullivan said, "and I think we should go ahead and approve the license." He said the license should be only for a grocery and meat market, however, and shouldn't address the question of whether the store should also be allowed to sell beer and wine, as being requested by the owners.

After Gann repeated his warning the commission would be in violation of its own ordinance, Tanner called for a vote. The measure passed, 4-1.

Wilson to run

TALLAHASSEE—Former state Senator Lori Wilson today announced her candidacy for the U.S. Senate. Wilson will run as an independent.

Wilson, 43, of Cocoa Beach, served two terms in the state Senate as a Democrat, from 1972-1978. She did not seek re-election when her term expired.

"I am running because I'm fed up with the political party games in Washington which have ruined our economy and brought us disgrace abroad. I believe the people of Florida want a different kind of representation in the Senate and as an independent U.S. Senator I can provide that difference," she added.

Wilson said she chose to run as an independent despite urging by many Democrats and Republicans that she seek the U.S. Senate seat by entering party primaries.

"All independent candidacy is a much harder route than running as a party candidate, but it will allow me to campaign free of party pressures and special interest influence. The majority of citizens are fed up with politicians as usual and the winning candidate in November will be backed by a coalition of Democrats, Republicans and independents," Wilson said.

Wilson won her state Senate seat in a close race against two popular and well-financed Republican Democratic candidates in 1972. Two years later Wilson was re-elected with almost 60 percent of the vote in another three-way race.

To be on the November ballot without party affiliation Wilson must gather three percent of Florida voters' signatures (about 127,000) on a petition card by July 22.

Petition gathering is a route Wilson used successfully to force the ballot in her two state Senate races.

Wilson has never lost an election. Prior to serving in the state Senate she was a Brevard County Commissioner, the first woman Commissioner in the county's history. Later, she was elected Chairman of the County Commission, the first female Commission Chairman in the state.

For the past two years Wilson has headed her own professional consulting business which advised businesses on people matters and equal opportunity hiring and promotion.

"I retired voluntarily from the state Senate two years ago because I didn't want to campaign for a permanent position. In my consulting business, I have traveled extensively, talking with people from virtually all living and job situations," she said.

PBJC auditorium groundbreaking is Saturday

WALLACE LUTZ, right, is shown as he prepared to sign a contract with Palm Beach College for construction of the PBJC Glades auditorium. Dr. Edward M. Essey, PBJC president, awaits his turn to sign.

A contract for construction of the PBJC Glades Auditorium, the first building ever to be built by PBJC with joint community and college financing, has been signed by Wallace Lutz of Lutz Construction Co., in Belle Glade.

The signing took place in the office of Dr. Edward M. Essey, PBJC president, Thursday morning.

The amount of the contract was $1,595,959. Time for completion has been set at 465 days.

A groundbreaking ceremony for the new building has been set for Saturday, May 10, at 10 a.m. on the site. Actual construction, in the form of preliminary site work, will begin the following week.

Dr. Essey said that members of the state legislature, the county commission and the Belle Glade city commission, the three groups primarily responsible for funding the project have expressed an interest in being on hand for the ground breaking. "In addition, we expect a number of prominent citizens in the Glades area to be present," Dr. Essey said. "This is truly a joint effort of the college and the community."

The project was originally funded for only $800,000 with $300,000 from the community, double matched by the state.

But on Mar. 19, when bids were presented to the board of trustees, the Lutz bid was low, but almost $700,000 above the original funding, which had already been stretched, but only to about $1.1 million.

After some efforts at advanced funding were not successful, Dr. Essey made last-minute appeals to the county commission and the Belle Glade city commission, and both were successful.

The county added $200,000 and the city $32,000 to bring local contributions to a total of $632,000. State contributions of about $1.1 million will make the building possible.

"This is a happy occasion for the college and the Glades community," Dr. Essey said at the contract signing. "Interest in this building is unusually high in our area," said Lutz. "I'm happy we can be part of this joint venture."

County to stay downtown

County Administrative Offices apparently will remain in downtown West Palm Beach.

By a 5-2 vote Tuesday (April 29), the board of County Commissioners agreed to go ahead with a new building and parking ramp adjacent to the present courthouse at Dixie and Second Street.

Following a lengthy discussion, commissioners approved as original staff recommendation to construct new offices either on a parking lot just east of the courthouse or across the street on a half-block of property owned by the city and the location of the former city hall and auxiliary buildings, including the downtown fire department which is being relocated.

Approval to stay in the downtown sector came because of a "swing vote" by Commissioner Bill Bailey who previously had held out for a move west to Palm Beach International Airport land.

Bailey predicted his vote for downtown on his decision to "move ahead" on the project which has been in the mill for more than a year. He said his sentiments still were with a complex on airport property to the west, but wanted to "get on" with the program. Bailey seconded a motion by Vice Chairman Frank Foster and the third vote was cast by Chairman Dennis Koehler.

Board Member Peggy Evatt earlier had moved for a downtown site, but she wanted further bids from development teams. Foster's motion specified the development team of Haney and Clark, one of several who had made proposals to the commission in the past.

Upon questioning, Bill Clark, a member of the team, said his firm would cooperate fully with the county staff and constitutional officers and follow bidding processes to assure the lowest and best construction bids by contractors.

Commissioner Norman Gregory voted with Mrs. Evatt, against the majority, but for different reasons. He said he has favored a Section 8 location for the complex, off Gun Club Road on airport property, and stayed with his original stand.

Free parking for county employees and taxpayers doing business with the commission and administration was assured as part of the lease-purchase package with Haney and Clark, although the board is aware that costs for the parking plan will be built into total expenditures.

A 90-day negotiation period was approved for final details and the County Commission will have the final say on the cost and structural proposals.

In other business, the board:

—Kicked off the new intra-county bus system, which will initiate new and revised routes and slight fare increases on Sunday, May 4. A short presentation by resident manager Irving Chire included the new "Cotnam" logo, standing for "County Transit," uniforms for bus drivers, desk plaques, pictures of one of the new 40, 31-passenger coaches

An aerial view of Beckett Telford, Inc and Tom Lampel, flight instructor.

Sunny day, clear blue sky, nice breeze and a little time to spare. What would you like to be doing? Does flying cross your mind? Being airborne, up there with the birds and sailing above the tree tops. Sounds good huh?

Well you can learn to fly if you have a true desire to. Beckett Telford, Inc. in Pahokee (the Pahokee airport) has a flight course for you. The course is taught by flight instructor Mr. Tom Lampel. Mr. Lampel has been with Beckett Telford in Pahokee for about one year and has been flying since 1956.

On the first day of your training flight Mr. Lampel goes thru the ropes of getting your plane ready before you even get in the pilot seat. When all is in order outside, the inside is readied. Gauges checked and throttles pulled and all is go. Once airborne your mood changes to a calm easy feeling; one you get from no other sport than flying. If you choose to take the flight training course you may rest assured that you will be instructed by a true professional. Mr. Lampel knows what it is he is talking about and teaching you.

If you've always wanted to know the thrill of flying (on your own) but never knew how to go about finding information or who to talk to call Tom Lampel about any questions you may have. You can reach Mr. Lampel by calling 924-5496.

18 Raiders going to state meet

BELLE GLADE—Glades Central boys track team members took three first place Friday in the Region 4AAA meet at North Shore High School and eight second place.

Raider wound up in a photo finish for a first place to win the regional championship and send 18 of the thirteenth to the state meet this Friday in Winter Park.

First place wins were picked up by the mile medley relay team, by Charles "Bull" Miller in the shot put and by Wilford Morgan in the high jump but Coach Willie McDonald said a judgement call sent Jessie Hester back from first place to third in the 100 yard dash.

Hester, running his second 100 yard dash in competition, came up with the same time of 9.5 seconds recorded by Ronnie Cloutier of Fort Pierce Westwood and Richard Richards of North Shore and McDonald said several people, including himself, thought Hester had won the race.

McDonald said Cardinal Newman's Sam Budnyk was sitting beside him and offered to speak in his favor before the jury of appeals but the jury of appeals refused to hear McDonald's protest, saying it was a judgement call.

Glades Central girls track coach Jay Seider said he saw the finish and from his angle, it appeared as though Hester had won but, he added, Hester was in lane one and lane one is sometimes looked over by the judges.

According to one report, Hester demonstrated "an extraordinary amount of class and sportsmanship," after the race when he was told he was given third place in the dead heat finish.

"I don't really have anything to say," he said. "They called it and they're the ones that decide. I thought I had it but they made the decision and I'll go by it."

Whatever the decision, Hester was one of the Raiders who qualified to go to the state meet scheduled for Showalter Field in Winter Park Friday and Saturday and McDonald noted, there'll be photo finish equipment at that meet.

Wilford Morgan, as usual, won the high jump with a leap of 6'2", six inches less than his best effort this year, and, again as usual, placed in all four field events he entered.

Morgan placed second in the long jump with a distance of 21'6". He was followed in third place by Eugene Wells with a distance of 21'2". Wells also placed sixth in the high jump, clearing the bar at 5'10".

Charles Miller placed first in the shotput with a heave of 54'3/4" and Morgan was fifth with a distance of 48'9". Miller came in second place in the discus with a distance of 164'0" and Morgan was third with a distance of 142'0".

The mile medley relay team scored the third first place for the Raiders when runners Arthur Monroe, Ray McDonald, Theodis Paulk and Adam Ford ran the distance in 3:42.4. Their win avenged a second place finish a week previously when this was the only event during the district meet which the Raiders failed to win a first place after.

Monroe dropped the baton. The mile relay team won a second place finish in a time of 3:28.3. The runners were Robert Brown, Greg Bain, Dennis Bradley and Demetrius Singletary.

Eddie Lusane won a second place in the 120 yard high hurdles with a time of 18.6 seconds. Lusane won more points when he finished third in the 330 yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 41.4 seconds.

The 440 yard relay team won a second place finish in 49.5 seconds. The runners were Arthur Monroe, Ray McDonald, Elmoir Duke and Jessie Hester.

Levellie Moreland assured himself of a place on the team travelling to the state meet when the sophomore finished fourth in the mile run with a time of 4:42.

Seymore earned points for the Raiders in the regional meet by finishing fifth with a time of 2:02.

The Raiders amassed a total of 57 points to win first place in the meet, more than doubling that of the second place team, Miami Archbishop Curley with 42 points.

Other team rankings were Fort Pierce Westwood in total of 38 points, followed by St. Thomas Aquinas with 34, Suncoast with 31, Jupiter with 23, Miami Homestead with 22, North Shore with 22, Miami Pace with 18, Miami Edison with 16, Cardinal Newman with 13, Okeechobee with 11, Cardinal Gibbon with 11 and Atlantic with eight points.

Coach McDonald said he will be looking for donations this week to help pay the way for his team to the state meet Friday and Saturday. He said the team will be leaving Thursday.

Pahokee second in state

WINTER PARK—The Pahokee High School boys track team placed second in the state Class AA meet, picking up 41 1/2 points compared to winner Jefferson County's 57 points.

Blue Devil Coach Antonio Russell said the team was without the services of star runner Leonard Jones, who had been working all week to heal a pulled thigh muscle, only to pull it again at the last minute.

The Devils started out scoring early when Nathaniel Hannah jumped 21'10 3/4" in the long jump, good for a third place, and a high jump of 6'2" by Leonard Banks, coming in sixth.

Russell said Pahokee's outstanding quarter miler, Albert Gray picked off a first place win, finishing the 440 yard run in 49.9 seconds.

Another first place was won by the mile relay team of Nathaniel Hannah, Andre Water, Earl Williams and Albert Gray, who won the event in 3:25.2.

Earl Williams scored more points for the Devils when he finished third in the 120 yard high hurdles with a time of 14.9 seconds.

The 440 yard relay team of Lee Powell, James Jones, Michael Rawls and Nathaniel Hannah finished third with a time of 43.9

seconds. Earl Williams finished fourth in the 330 yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 40.1 seconds.

Harry Peet completed the individual events for Pahokee by placing sixth in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:04.

The Pahokee mile medley relay team of Lee Powell, James Jones, Albert Gray and Andre Water ran their best time of the year, in 3:24.7 to finish second behind Jefferson County.

Disqualifications hurt Distaff Devils

PAHOKEE—Three disqualifications may be cost the Pahokee High School girls track team the state title Saturday at the State Class AA track meet in Winter Park, according to Coach Ken Buckner.

The Blue Devils did win the mile relay and placed sixth in the 440 yard relay to pick up a total of 11 1/2 points but Buckner said the girls who were disqualified could have won or placed high in all the three events they were in.

Cheryl Butler, for instance, was the defending state champion in the 440 yard run and has done well all year in the 220 dash. She was disqualified in both. "Sylvia Robertson," Buckner said, "was expected to win the 330 yard intermediate hurdles but she tripped on the last hurdle and didn't place. We lost as many as 20-21 points because of those disqualifications," Buckner said. "We had 11 1/2 points and that would have given us as much as 32 points. The meet was won with 31 1/2 points."

The mile relay team, which won the Devils' only first place, finished the time in 4:10. The runners were The Graham, Cassandra Robinson, Sylvia Robertson and Cheryl Butler. The 440 yard relay team, made up of The Graham, Cassandra Robinson, Pam Law and Sharon Love, finished in 51.9 seconds.

Car flips, kills two Sunday

Belle Glade—A local woman and a South Bay man died Sunday when the car they were in left into a canal 0.6 miles east of the city limits. Dead at the scene were Alfred West, 36, of 1150 Palm Beach Ave. in South Bay and his passenger, Moleen Lewis, 42, of 450 S.W. Ave. E in Belle Glade.

Troopers W.M. Burroughs and Danny Pursell reported West had been driving west on Airport Road, "at a very high rate of speed," when, "for some unknown reason," his car left the road on the north shoulder, returned to the road, turned broadside and left the road again on the north shoulder, ending up upside down in the canal.

The troopers reported the weather was sunny and the road surface was dry at the time of the accident.

In 1980,
4,300 homeowners
will save $739,000 and 24,000 barrels of oil.

Those are pretty impressive numbers. And they represent the energy savings of the 4,300 Watt-Wise homes currently within the FPL service area.

$739,000 buys a lot of electricity. Or a lot of other things for Watt-Wise home owners who don't have to spend it on their electric bills.

And 24,000 barrels of oil? That's 24,000 barrels that Florida Power & Light doesn't have to import from foreign sources at ever increasing prices. Which saves FPL money. Saves our customers money. And puts our country that much closer to energy independence.

Watt-Wise Living™ pays. So if you're planning to buy or build a new home, plan to make it a Watt-Wise home. FPL's money-saving Watt-Wise homes have features like extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar and heat-recovery units for water heating, a higher-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump, power savers like fluorescent lighting and a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors (with plans are planned to minimize heat build-up). It may cost a little more now. But in the long run, it'll cost a whole lot less.

Watt-Wise Living. It saves you more than it costs.

1980 Scout-O-Rama

BELLE GLADE—An estimated 150 Scouts from Belle Glade, Pahokee, South Bay, Clewiston and Moore Haven gathered Saturday to show off their skills and have fun at the 1980 Scout-O-Rama.

The scouts had displays ranging from the bucking barrel brought in by the Moore Haven Troop and the monkey bridge built by Belle Glade's Troop 622 to the bee hive display by Pahokee's Troop 628 and Clewiston Troop 629's pine wood derby.

In the meantime, there was a dunking tank in which two clowns were splashing into the water every time a pint-sized, and sometimes an adult, Eob Feller managed to bean a target disc with a softball...all of which was strictly for fun.

To one side was a pint-size carnival that featured a button toss, a flying saucer, in which the kids were sailing Frisbees through hoops, a softball toss and other games.

There was one table set up where the cubs and scouts could test their accuracy with a hand axe, striking kitchen matches stuck into a couple of boards.

There was a space ship race inside the college building, where rubber-band powered space ships were raced along wires strung between two frames.

In the afternoon, crowds were drawn by the pine-wood derby, where miniature cars carved from wood were raced down an inclined length of plywood and, still later, cubs and dads got together in teams of pushbikes to race each other and the older scouts in the parking lot. The racers appeared to be

WHAT'S THE BUZZ? The buzz at this particular place and time was the bee hives being shown off by Pahokee scouts from Troop 628, who won first place for best overall display with the sweet little honey-makers. The Pahokee scouts demonstrated the bees in the hive, how the honey is extracted and clarified and even offered sample tastes.

South Bay gets into garbage

SOUTH BAY—The City Commission took the first firm step toward its own garbage collection system Tuesday night when the five commissioners decided unanimously to finance a proposed system, with an estimated annual cost of $58,000.

At the motion of Commissioner Ray Sullivan, the decision was to seek financing to implement a plan which calls for two new garbage compactor trucks and to hire two new men to assume the garbage collection for the city.

The city now pays South Florida Sanitation $58,500 a year to collect garbage while the city collects and hauls away the trash. Under the proposed system, the city would collect and haul away both.

The commission took the action despite a comment made early in the conversation by Public Works Director Lomas Harrelle, that the cost may run in excess of $70,000 a year, rather than the $58,000 mentioned in the plan. He said he based that figure, at least in part, on the estimated $10 per ton tipping fee which will be charged when a proposed transfer station in Belle Glade goes into business in a few months.

Mayor Don Tanner agreed the fees in the proposal reflect current costs rather than those which would be in effect when the transfer station goes into use, and both agreed the increased disposal fee would be reflected on every garbage and trash collector in the Glades, private or public.

The proposal was drawn up as a joint effort by Harrelle, City Manager Charles Merz and representatives of Trumore Industries, Inc. of Richmond, Va. During the preproposal period, Harrelle and Merz visited Delray Beach and explored that city's operation and Harrelle visited the Trumore plant in Richmond.

Merz and Harrelle said Delray Beach uses Trumore equipment and they're satisfied enough to have bought six new trucks in the past two months. Harrelle noted the plan calls for two new trucks, with one being a 27 yard diesel and the other a 23 yard gasoline powered truck. He said he would only be using the gas truck about 30 per cent of the time, with the diesel unit acting as first line and the gas unit the backup.

ERIN ALBERTSON Palm Beach County March of Dime's Foundation's Poster Child plans to attend the foundation's "super walk" in the Belle Glade Saturday. Erin, shown with her mother, Mrs. Stephen Albertson, along with Judy Walker, visited several schools in Belle Glade and Pahokee last week encouraging local youths to participate in the walk-a-thon.

SCOUT TROOP 622 do their own thing on their own thing, showing off their monkey bridge. The Belle Glade scouts, under the direction of Scoutmaster Bill Burr, built the rope bridge between two piers made of crossed poles. It was one of the more popular displays at the Scout-O-Rama.

Farm Bureau urges caution

Gainesville—Calling for the type of agriculture brought by Walter J. Kautz, president of Florida Farm Bureau Federation (FFBF), has urged farmers to "weather the storm."

"As you look at the high interest rates prevalent on today's markets, we caution all Americans to use only that credit they really need," Kautz said.

Now is the time for farmers to consider delaying purchase of some equipment and planning for improved cash flow, Kautz added.

Credit is available to farmers through Production Credit Associations (PCA), the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and commercial banks, the president of the 87,000 member family FFBF said.

Kautz noted the price farmers pay for credit has increased 50 percent in the last year alone.

High interest rates affect everyone in agriculture, but some commodities, such as potatoes, already face depressed markets and are being hurt worse, Kautz said some farmers have not yet been able to clear up last year's debts.

FmHA made $14 million in credit available to Florida farmers in early April. More than $2 million of the money has been loaned, according to Charlie Alexander, FmHA farm programs specialist.

"The economic emergency plans are being made for planting, purchase of equipment, operating expenses and refinancing a portion of delinquent debts," Alexander explained. Interest on the emergency economic loan is 14 percent, he added.

Eligibility is determined by the farmer's inability to get credit elsewhere.

Jerry Thomas, president of the mid-Florida PCA, described PCA's as being in good shape.

"At this time, we have whatever money we need. However, next month we will be under some credit restrictions which will affect the scope of financing."

Call Mom early

"Happy Mother's Day!" Southern Bell predicts over 18 million people nationwide will express those Mother's Day greetings on Mom's special day, May 11th.

Bob White, Southern Bell spokesman in the Glades, explained that Mother's Day is the second busiest day of the year for long distance calling, exceeded only by Christmas. Last year Florida dials made nearly 1.2 million calls.

White, also pointed out, "The average business day call tends to be short, while Mother's Day calls last longer."

The low night and weekend rate begins at 11 p.m. on Friday, continues all day and all night Saturday and remains in effect until 5 p.m. on Sunday, he said. However, if you do choose to call on Sunday, the best time will probably be between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

When planning that important call to Mom, White, suggests:

- Call early in the weekend to avoid the rush.
- Call when rates are lowest.
- Dial Direct—You save even more.
- Obtain numbers from Directory Assistance before the busy Mother's Day weekend.
- When making calls to the Pacific West Coast—Call after 11 p.m. and take advantage of the low rates and time zone differences.

There were a variety of static displays inside the building, including one display of first aid that was put to genuine use a couple of times when Pat Lacey's Clowston troop treated minor injuries sustained on the bucking barrel.

The bucking barrel was a 55 gallon drum suspended between four utility poles sunk in the ground. Four ropes leading from the barrel were manned by Moore Haven scouts who created a plausible facsimile of a bucking bronco by pulling on the ropes.

Scoutmaster Louis Howell said he had had a saddle on the barrel earlier but that the saddle has gotten old and the parts were rotting.

MOORE HAVEN'S bucking barrel was one of the most popular attractions at the Scout Jamboree held in Belle Glade Saturday, May 3.

ing 14 girls and one alternates to go to the state meet this weekend, according to Coach Jay Seider.

Miss Harrell also placed second in the 440 yard dash with a time of 61.2 seconds, earning her a place on the state-bound team.

Gloria Stewart placed second in the discus with a throw of 119'0", followed by Sheila Nix with a throw of 112'2 1/4".

Aside from Carmen Crawford's third place finish in the long jump, the Raiders earned points in that event from Fleeta Harrell, who finished fourth with a 177" effort, and from Sheila Ashley, whose fifth place, 175", Seider said Miss Ashley had a bad day at the long jump, noting she set a new school record last week during the district meet when she leaped 18'6 1/4".

In the high jump, Cynthia Harrell won a third place finish when she jumped 5'0".

The 440 yard relay team won third place when runners Barbara Bostick, Tanya Wilkerson, Sheila Ashley and Carmen Crawford finished in 51.4 seconds after dropping the baton.

The girls' 800 yard relay team also won a third place when runners Maria Redwood, Tanya Wilkerson, Linda Jackson and Betty McClarin finished at 4:35.5.

Diane Bussie won fourth place in the 110 yard low hurdles.

Coach Seider said all the athletes finishing in the first four places will be travelling to Winter Park Thursday for the state meet there on Friday and Saturday.

Bikers to ride for cystic fibrosis

Police and sheriff's deputies will be keeping a close watch on SR715 Saturday when bicyclists from Belle Glade and Pahokee attempt the 25-mile round trip from either end to earn pledges they've raised in the fight against cystic fibrosis.

In Belle Glade, cyclists will begin registering at 8 a.m. at Glades Plaza under the direction of Mrs. Willie Mae Adams, Bikeathon chairman. The ride is scheduled to start at 9 o'clock.

In Pahokee, York Library will be the starting point for cyclists heading toward Glades Plaza.

Meanwhile, volunteers will have a rest area set up at Rardin Park with refreshments for the children and adults taking part.

Those who participate will get a bonus Burger King in the way of a treat following the Bikeathon, according to Bob Sands, Burger King manager.

Another one of man's best friends has Astma clinic representatives checking in an unattended car bumped the gear shift into reverse. As the auto rammed into a neighbor's garage, the shaken canine let out a real Virginia wowl.

The feline species was not about to be outdone. Like the one which took on a dog and its owner in a sidewalk brawl. After visiting the doctor for a tetanus shot and treatment of wounds, the outraged woman visited the cat's owner to complain. As she re-narrated the incident, kitty cooperated by renewing the attack.

Time falling the woman, injuring her back, and biting a chunk out of her ear.

Other backlides suffered during the '70s, a similar claim brought malpractice charges against her doctor for leaving part of a broken hypodermic needle in her posterior.

Testimony revealed, however, that the seamstress had sat on a knitting needle years before.

Consider also the better who won a bundle at the racetrack and concealed the day's winnings in his pants. Nervous about being mugged, he lit up a cigarette

Best of the 70s is quite a claim

HARTFORD, Conn. April 1 — After a disagreement, the butcher left his employee with a frozen duck. The co-worker retaliated with a sock-harvey turkey leg across his boss' chest and the "cold war" was on.

Within minutes dozens of frozen fowl littered the sawdust-covered floor and the employee limped away from the scene with a broken leg after falling over a petrified rooster.

A 1,110 lbs. tombstone fell on top of an Illinois widow as she visited her deceased spouse's grave. She interpreted the incident as her husband calling her to join him.

When there's the story of the infamous "Golf Cart Gang." Their drive was the mix of booze and wheel. Celebrating a football victory with some brew, the gang decided to cruise a local country golf course in "borrowed" electric cars. Before the night was over, 20 carts were in the drink — a tough gamble off the 13th green.

History will undoubtedly record the '70s as the calm after the stormy '60s. That couldn't be further from the truth, according to Astma Gang.

1,000 Cuban refugees go through Okeelanta

GUARDING THE GATE at the Okeelanta Sugar Mill Monday afternoon were Palm Beach County Deputy Sheriff Rick Murray and National Guardsmen, Spec. 5 Barry Finley of the 149th General Supply Co. and Sgt. Charles Gottshall of the 20th Special Forces Group, both in Fort Lauderdale.

REUNITED AGAIN at the gate of Okeelanta Sugar Mill Monday afternoon were two brothers and their families. Standing in front was 10-year-old Antonio

SOUTH RAY — More than 1,000 Cubans brought into the United States over the past few weeks in the south from Mariel to Key West have been housed in shifts at the Gulf + Western Okeelanta Sugar Mill during the past week.

The sugar mill, located seven miles south of here on US27, became involved as a temporary shelter for the refugees last week at the request of the mayor of Miami and the International Rescue Mission in Miami.

Initially, 140 single men between the ages of 18 and 35, who had no families in the United States, were brought in a week ago Monday night. Those men had been processed and by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) by Friday and by the weekend, only 60 were left, with 15 being offered employment by Gulf + Western, according to corporate spokesman Gary Martin in West Palm Beach.

The 140 men hadn't even been received before members of the Belle Glade Cuban community was involved, offering help, according to Gilberto Alvarez, and National Guardsmen from Fort Lauderdale, backed up by deputy sheriffs from the Glades subdivision of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, have augmented private guards on the Okeelanta gate 24 hours a day.

Guards on duty Monday afternoon said the gate has often been the scene of emotional reunions between Cubans who came over on the south and relatives who had preceded them to the United States.

One such instance came up that afternoon when Luis Anado and his wife, Amelia, finally found his brother, Arturo Triama, after days of trying and even going to Cuba, only to be thwarted there by Cuban guardsmen.

Triama and his two sons, Antonio and Luis, were among the third batch of Cubans who have received housing, food and other help at the Okeelanta mill. After 80 of the first lot of 140 left Friday, 500 more were brought in Saturday, then taken out Sunday to be processed, making room for 307 more who replaced them. An additional 82 were brought in Monday night.

Anado said he had taken a boat to Mariel, Cuba, where the seafit originates, with the specific purpose in mind of bringing his brother and nephew along with relatives but he said the situation was worse than that.

He said he realized he would be required to bring out several refugees from the Peruvian embassy along with relatives but he said the situation was worse than that.

"They made me load on 200 other refugees but wouldn't let me bring my brother," he said. "They (his brother and nephew) waited four days in Mariel without food, without water to bathe. They slept on the ground."

National Guard Spec. 5 Barry Finley, of the 149th General Supply Co., Sgt. Charles Gottshall, of the 20th Special Forces Group, and Deputy Rick Murray said the scene of the Anado-Triama reunion was repeated hundreds of times over the past few days. They said 60 cars and trucks are lined up Sunday, all bearing families hoping to find relatives. Most of the arrivals were from Miami.

Finley and Gottshall said they've been working three-hour guard shifts at the gate since they arrived in the Glades last Thursday. They said they've been staying at the Days Inn in South Bay.

The demographic makeup of the refugees being brought into the Okeelanta staging area has changed since the first group was brought in a week ago. Gary Martin said the original agreement was that only single males would be housed and fed there.

The second group, besides the men, contained four women, he said, while the third group contained no women but several children.

Glades area Cubans, according to Gilberto Alvarez, have been cooperating by trying to find articles of clothing and other necessities, some of which Gulf + Western is paying for but leaving to the local community to find, and some of which Gulf + Western isn't providing at all.

"The merchants in the area have been tremendous," Alvarez said. "They, particularly Royal's have opened warehouses at night. They've helped us in every kind of way."

"It's not easy to find 1,000 toothbrushes in a community this size," he said, "or 1,000 razor blades, but with the help of the local merchants, we've found them."

Alvarez said the Anado-Triama story was had but there were many more. He said one of the major services he and other local Cubans have been attempting to provide is the passage of messages from refugees.

"They never give you a hard time," Finley said. "If you have to do it, let her know her son hasn't drowned," he said. "There are people here who've been completely separated from their families. Some of them started out with other members of the family and have gotten separated and they don't know if the other member of their family is alive or dead."

"They could be here in West Palm Beach, in Miami or at Eglin," he said. "One side effect of this for 20 years under a totalitarian regime which we noticed by the National Guardsmen, is that the fatigue uniforms are the same as those worn by Castro's militia and obviously inspire fear among the refugees."

"They never give you a hard time," Finley said. "If you have to do it, let her know her son hasn't drowned," he said. "There are people here who've been completely separated from their families. Some of them started out with other members of the family and have gotten separated and they don't know if the other member of their family is alive or dead."

MOTHER'S DAY

Part of being grown-up is buying a card for Mother on Mother's Day. Sometimes a lot of care goes into choosing the message that best says what we want to say. But almost all grown-up sentiments are usually written by somebody else — few of us write our own.

Not so with little children. Their message may be simple. And misspelled. But they can write, "I love you" and find every reason for expressing their gratitude.

This week's Vista is a compilation of Mother's Day messages written by elementary school children to their mothers. All of them are poetry and some even rhyme.

But most of all, the messages tell all mothers that it's the little things that seem to count.

Advertising can be something that you absorb more than you think. This was brought home to me a few years ago when I was a baby-sitter for a bright three-year-old who could rattle off many of the TV jingles that were on the air at that time.

How would you rate on a quiz on how alert you are to some of those phrases that are directly associated with American companies? These are advertisements that you can see in print or hear messages on the airways, seeking to make a favorable impression on you.

See how you do. The answers are at the end of the quiz.

1. A powerful part of your life.
2. We circle the world.
3. Out front. Pulling away.
4. A concern for the future.
5. Ideas to build on.
6. Doing what we do best.
7. Getting people together.
8. We bring good things to life.
9. A household name, at work.
10. America's storyteller.
11. Think what we can do for you.
12. Always the leader.
13. A bread apart.
14. You're going to like us.
15. We build your kind of truck.
16. Merrill Lynch.
17. Goodyear.

W. area kids show right stuff nationally

Competing with some 800 other students in the national academic games last week in Eatonton, Ga., Glades students more than held their own. Star performer was Robert Tai, ninth grade Pahokee Junior-Senior High School student, who placed second nationally in the junior division of the Mr. President category.

ROBERT TAI

His brother, Thomas, a fifth grade student at Pahokee's East Lake Middle School, proved himself seventh best in the nation in all social studies games for elementary level pupils and was a member of the Orange Crusaders team which placed fifth in Linguistics and fifth in Ameri-Euro card competition. At the middle school level, Mark Andrews, another East Lake student, was the fifth highest scorer in the Mr. President game and Rosendo Aballero from Lake Shore Middle School in Belle Glade was a member of the Palm Beach All Stars team, which proved to be best in the county by winning third place in Linguistics, fourth place in propaganda, strange bedfellows, eighth in equations, and twelfth in Ameri-Euro cards.

The students were accompanied to the games by Mrs. Sue Hickerson, a member of the Gove Elementary School gifted program faculty, and David Campbell, a resource teacher with the West Area Superintendent's office in the Emergency School Aid Act program.

Commenting on the West Area students' performance, Campbell said, "They performed very well. It was the first time for some of them."

Some of the competing schools, in other states, Campbell said, schedule fulltime classes in academic games.

The county sent 37 students to the national games after holding competitive matches within the school district. This year, for the first time, the West Area games were held locally instead of Glades students having to travel to West Palm Beach to participate.

At the national games, Mrs. Hickerson served as a judge in the elementary division and Campbell was a junior division judge.

Pahokee Spring Carnival Time

DR. HARRIS BLUMBERG, principal of Pahokee elementary was the star attraction, "Dunk the Doc", at the school's spring carnival last Saturday. Doc not quite ready for the camera to start rolling, orders a halt of the click until the water pail up top could be emptied of the contents. The pail didn't take long in losing its contents as Mrs. Peggy Hatton, the carnival coordinator hit the bulls eye, as Bill Cox looks on.

PAHOKEE — Fun, Fun and more fun was the name of the game Saturday, as more than 300 persons attended the Pahokee Elementary School spring carnival.

Featuring such attraction as "Dunk the Doc," principal Harris Blumberg sitting under a pail of water, with the lucky bulls-eye hiter getting the thrill of seeing the "Doc" all wet.

Other attraction included strike-out with Casey at the Bat, Fishing Pond, Ring toss, Lucky Boat pick, cake walks, craft shop, taco stand, and many others.

Dr. Blumberg said the steady stream of carnival goers emptying their pockets will enable the school to purchase an outdoor public address system and new playground equipment. Mrs. Peggy Hatton, coordinator of the carnival with the assistance an advisory committee the PES parent teacher organization said the carnival was quite a success.

Prior to Saturday's carnival, the school presented the annual May Day program with the crowning of the 4th grade King and Queen. Darrell Hickman and Pamela Sandlin.

Kiwanis honors laymen

BELLE GLADE — Members of the Kiwanis Club of the Glades paid tribute Thursday to the "Laymen of the Year."

Certificates were presented to the four for having made an exceptional contribution of their time and efforts to the church they belong; to and to the spiritual life of the community.

Receiving the honors were George C. Goforth, Jr., of the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade, J.D. Stephens of the Belle Glade Alliance Church, Joseph L. Murphy of St. Philip Benizi Catholic Church and Harvey M. Mathews of the Belle Glade Church of Christ.

The men were selected for the honor by their respective pastors: Rev. Robert Atkins, Rev. Mark O'Farrell, Father Paul Saghy and Minister Tuck Andrews.

The awards ceremony was coordinated by Jack Shaffer, chairman of the Kiwanis spiritual aims committee, and committee members Gene Chalkiadis, Melrose Thompson and Chester Mullis.

Remarks on the awards ceremony, Kiwanis President John Olin said, "The Kiwanis Club is privileged to have these men living and working in the community."

GIFT OF A CHURCH by Mr. and Mrs. George L. Royal earned the heartfelt thanks of the Wesleyan Community Holiness congregation, expressed on a plaque presented recently to the couple by the Rev. Clifford C. Davis, pastor; Channie Flowers, church mother; and Doris S. Davis, church secretary. For many years, the Royals maintained the building and provided the utilities.

KEEPING THE FAITH

BY THE REV. JOE ED MCGAHEY
Community United Methodist Church

"Simon, Son of John, do you love Me more than these?" John 21:15

It was a short time after the resurrection, perhaps two or three weeks, when Jesus turned to Peter on the shore of the Sea of Galilee and asked this question. Already the disciples had seen Jesus at least twice, and Peter had seen Him one other time by himself. However, they still were unsure of their ministry or commitment or what either was supposed to be.

Peter and several of the apostles had been out fishing all night. Now they had just finished eating a breakfast that Jesus had prepared for them on the seashore. What, if any conversation had taken place during that breakfast we do not know. But we do know the question Jesus asked of Peter was breakfast: "Simon, Son of John, do you love Me more than these?" What was the meaning of that question?

First, what are "these" that Jesus was referring to? "These" could have been many things. It could have been his boats and nets. That had been his work, his means of making a living. It could have meant the breakfast, as a symbol for what we call the necessities of life. It could have meant Peter's companions, or it could have been all of this and more. Jesus could have, with sweeping gesture of His hand, been talking about it all.

Second, Jesus was using the word "gape" for "love." That is a God-like self-giving love, that loves no matter what. The kind of love expressed in 1 Corinthians 13:4-7. It is a love that commits one whole being to the object of that love.

Simon, do you love me with a love that's total commitment? Is your life commitment? Is your life committed to me in total love?

Now Jesus is still asking us this same question. Have we committed our lives to Jesus above everything else in a commitment of love? Have we put Him first above everything else?

Jesus will not accept second place in our lives — it has to be first. Most of us want a form of Christianity with no real commitment. And so Jesus is asking, "Do you love me more than these?" Do we love Him more than material success, more than pleasure or our hobbies? Do we love Him even more than our family?

It is not necessarily bad things that get between us and our complete commitment to Jesus Christ. Many times it is good things that have gotten out of perspective. We certainly need a very real commitment to our families, our work or business, and our friends. But as important as these and other things we could name are, Jesus says, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matthew 6:33)

Gold Coast Gardener

By GENE JOYNER
URBAN DISTRICT
PALM BEACH COUNTY

One of our favorite flowering shrubs is now in its full season — the gardenia — and many people enjoy planting these in their landscapes, but a number of times plants do poorly or do not flower as much as they should.

Maintenance requirements of gardenias are frequently more than that for other types of plants, but many people fail to give gardenias the right type of care in the beginning, and always will have continuing problems.

For best results gardenias should be planted in full sun in a rich, well-drained soil that has been improved or amended with generous amounts of peat moss, top soil, compost or manure.

When you purchase gardenias make sure you buy a grafted plant unless it is full sun in a rich, well-drained soil that has been improved or amended with generous amounts of peat moss, top soil, compost or manure.

Gardenias are very subject to root damage from nematodes in the soil and in most instances are grafted on a nematode resistant root stock called thurbergia. If you are growing these in containers and using sterile media, nematodes will not be a problem and you could grow one on its own roots satisfactorily.

In the landscape, gardenias grow to be large bushes, sometimes 20 feet or more when quite old. Few people, however, desire them this size and most often bushes are kept pruned to heights of less than ten feet.

Gardenias are heavy feeders and should be fertilized regularly with an acid type fertilizer or a special type made for gardenias.

When Souls Communicate

When souls communicate — it's like prayer. There may never be a word spoken . . . just a sigh, a wish, a hope, a longing. A child trying to express some simple feeling to its Mother. Mother trying to express her devotion to her child.

All prayer is founded on the idea that God loves us and cares about the things that affect us. Jesus taught us to pray "Our Father . . ." He wanted men to see God's love on the parental level.

When you feel the need to pray, reach out with your heart to God. You may not be able to find words. Yet He hears. He understands those deep feelings we find hard to express.

In church our efforts to communicate with Him are strengthened by the fact that many others are praying with us. They need Him just as much as we do. And we need their longings, their hopes and wishes and feelings to help us express our own. Join us in prayer at your local church or synagogue.

The family who prays together stays together

... and whatnot by Ailsa Dewing

Years ago there was a TV newscast during which the announcer three times said something like "And now, here is the film taken earlier today at the scene..." And three times the newscaster was left staring into the camera and nothing happened. He stared at us out in televisionland and we stared back at him sitting in the studio.

The first two times he apologized for the difficulties and said the film would be shown later in the program. After the third try, he said, "We regret we are unable to show you the film due to conditions beyond belief."

Those same conditions have prevailed around here for the last month every time we've tried to publish the telephone number of the Crisis Stabilization Unit. Because the CSU has opened since the telephone book was published, there is no listing in the directory.

Being a community-minded newspaper, we fearlessly printed the CSU phone number that anyone may call to get aid for someone suffering a mental crisis and, more recently, my spouse can call who needs some help when a family argument turns into physical violence.

The first time we inadvertently gave out the Crisis Intervention phone number for the CSU number. An honest mistake and one we wouldn't repeat, we told the folks at the Community Mental Health Service.

And we didn't. The next time we used the right phone number. But somewhere in the printing process, a 9 came up instead of an 8, and we asked it to wait into print.

The next time we had occasion to print the number, we got it right, and it stayed right.

Handy with success, we repeated the number in the headline. Almost. This time two numbers changed places while nobody was looking.

Under usual circumstances, when a mistake is made in newtype, we publish a correction and make an apology. And that's an end to it.

But for circumstances "beyond belief" there is no easy solution.

According to the mathematics of probabilities, a seven-number series can be rearranged 28 different ways. These are terrifying odds. Especially when each possibility of another wrong number ups the chance of another unsuspecting householder being raised from his/her bed at 3 a.m. by a genuine plea for help.

Obviously some corollary of Murphy's Law is at work here that we are ignorant of. But ignorance of the law is no excuse.

So what to do? Forget the whole thing? Admit it's a numbers game and we can't win?

That's no help to people who may need the number. On the other hand, we sure don't want to go through all the finite possibilities before looking out with the right number.

So we'll give it three more tries. The telephone number of the Crisis Stabilization Unit is 996-8077. That's 996-8077. (Listed 996-8077.)

If you do, please write it down. Our luck could run out again at any moment.

Gardener

low places or overwatering since root damage or rot rot could occur.

Mulching is also beneficial in many instances to reduce weed competition and to help keep the soil from drying out as rapidly.

Most varieties of gardenias flower from March through June and bushes should not be pruned during this time unless you are willing to accept reduced numbers of flowers.

The best time for pruning gardenias is during the summer after the bloom period. Usually pruning is not needed very often except to shape the bush and remove any weak or diseased branches.

Sucking pest such as scale and whiteflies may present a problem during the spring and summer months. There are a number of gardenia sprays available in local garden supply stores.

Gardenias are also subject to iron deficiencies and as iron supplement is sometimes required in addition to regular fertilizing to keep them in good health.

Periodically older leaves may turn yellow and drop. This is particularly notable in the early spring prior to blooming and during the late fall. For a few days the plant may be quite bare looking but new leaves are generally produced very quickly.

Winning Cowbelle recipe

Short Ribs l'Orange

Winner of this year's Florida Beef Cook-off sponsored by the Florida Cattle Association was Barbara Horning from Brevard County whose recipe for "Beef Ribs l'Orange" topped some 80 entries in the judges' opinion.

Finals were held in Kissimmee April 25 with ten finalists preparing their recipes for the final judging.

The winning recipe will serve six people at about $1.20 a serving.

Beef Ribs l'Orange

- 3 1/2 - 4 lbs. lean short ribs
- 2 Tbsp. salad oil
- 2 cans (11 oz.) mandarin orange sections
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1/2 cup orange marmalade
- 2 cans small whole fingerling carrots, drained
- 1 tsp. salt
- 10 medium size mushrooms

Wipe mushrooms with damp paper towels. Trim excess fat. Slightly beat oil in large skillet or Dutch oven. Brown meat well, turning on all sides, about 20 minutes. Remove from heat.

Drain orange sections, reserving juice. Combine juice with corn starch, orange marmalade, and salt. Mix well and pour over meat, add oranges. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer, covered, 2 to 2-1/2 hours, or until fork tender. Add mushrooms (whole) and fingerling carrots before cooking is complete (just long enough to heat them through).
